IMPORTANT MEETING OF ACU EASTERN

There has been an ongoing review of the way that the Centre operates and what changes are proposed to move it forward over the next few years

Amended Bye Laws will soon be circulated for discussion

The Centre Board Meeting for Development and Sustainability will be held at Claydon and Barham Community Centre on 10 July 2023 starting at 7.45pm and the main item on the agenda will be the amended Bye Laws.

We need input from all clubs to agree the way that the centre goes forward into the future ,remains relevant and attracts new members

Please make every effort to attend this meeting

If you are unable to attend the meeting in person please submit your comments beforehand.

Youth Events - Building for the future

Chris Keeble

It is very pleasing to see reports of both the Castle Cadets Trial for junior riders and the Youth Enduro at Foxborough in this edition of the Gazette.

Across all branches of the sport, the average age of riders is increasing therefore the youth competitors are vital to the future of the sport.

Some clubs are running youth classes in their adult events which is excellent but dedicated events solely for youth beginners are even better.

There are adult members whose primary interest is something other than trials who may think that youth trials are not relevant to their branch of the sport but the key thing is to get youngsters onto powered two wheel bikes .Even if they start with trials they may well move over to other branches of the sport later on.

Castle Cadet Trial

Ian Johnston

On Sunday 30th April, Castle Colchester MCC held their 2nd Castle Cadet trial of the year. The trial was held at Raydon Pit, Suffolk. A pit that has been used by generations of riders and is excellent for all abilities of trials riding.

The trial was attended by many from Club members, families, officials from other clubs and Centre ACU Officials along with a high number of youth competitors riding electric trials bikes.

Castle Flags and banners welcomed competitors, giving that wow factor saying, 'You have arrived'. All were greeted with a friendly inclusive atmosphere, from signing on, machine examining and a welcoming complimentary tea coffee for adults.

Machine examining was adhered to being sure all bike standards were met, along with usual fire precautions and first Aid supplies available.

Come 10:30am the youths were off to their sections, walking and planning their routes through, being supported by parents and guardians close behind.

All the youths were excited to be out, keen to ride their bikes with big smiles. The event consisted of 4 laps, 8 sections.

The trial stopped after 2 laps for lunch and a breather. This was well received by the young competitors, giving them time to rest and most appreciated by others who deserved that break from running round after them. Before we knew it, they were off again to complete their final 2 laps of more fun.

The youth's riding was excellent to watch with some awesome rides throughout the day. Well done to them all.

Results were collated immediately after the event by the event secretary, Nichola Norman in preparation for certificates to be presented.

Certificates were given to 1st, 2nd, 3rd positions in each class and route. Finally, all competitors received a finishers award/treat.

The young competitors finished the day with big smiles on their faces and a sense of achievement. It was a pleasure to see.

The next Castle Cadet event will be held at Thorrington on Sunday 4th June. If you have not yet been to a Cadet event, then go along and watch the centre's up and coming young talented trials riders compete. A great day to be had by all.

There can be no doubt that Alan Millyard has machined himself into a unique position in the motorcycle world. His fame as the amazing engineer of beautifully turned out, "Specials," now amplified with his appearances with the ever-mystified, Henry Coles, on on the popular TV motorbike shows, has brought his unique handiwork work to millions – many probably quite unaware of the ingenuity, hard work and sheer artistry which has gone into his mobile masterpieces.

I was lucky enough to see two of Alan's examples perform at Sammy Millers motorcycle museum, a couple of years ago. Miller has a large open yard to the rear of the museum building and on this occasion – the opening of an extra wing – several of the most prestigious bikes were parked outside. Amongst one of these appeared to be a genuine 1960's Honda six-cylinder works racer! It was immaculate. Some time during the proceedings, Alan started it up. Oh my lord! Fingers in your earholes – but it was music nonetheless. Alan – who I still did not know was the builder of this incredible replica - duly did a few raucous bottom gear laps. Having seen the originals all those years ago, race at the TT - when he stopped and cut the engine, I nearly knelt down in homage. Yet more was to come.

A most unweildy looking yet beautifully turned-out decidedly American-looking bike, was standing near by. It had a very BIG vee-twin engine. Written on the tank was: "Millyard Special" - at the time, I took it to be a rare American make, perhaps based on an early Indian. Alan then started it up and again circulated. What a difference to the screaming high-revving Honda! It seemed he circulated a whole lap of the run-round in a couple of deep-throated: "Boom-Booms". The bike clearly had the torque of a Caterpillar tractor. Alan rode it as cleanly as he had circulated with the Honda. When he stopped, I still did not know that he again, was that unique bike's constructor – or that the engine was composed of two cylinders taken from a monster nine-cylinder Pratt and Whitney aircraft engine! I merely went over and complimented him on his riding. Now I know the facts – I can only say the man is a genius and must rate as motorcycling's: 'Michael Angelo' - such is the splendour of his products.

Throughout motorcycle history, people have made "specials". It does reflect, I think, on the type of person who is a motorcyclist. Often, he (or she) sees further – and wishes to improve. He has - sometimes - the ability to engineer it. Sometimes it works – sometimes it doesn't... He tries anyway. I can think of many such people from, John Catchpole and his trials solos and chairs, to the largely forgotten Fred Marsh, who did also produce a four cylinder racer, using some Triumph Tiger Cub internals. Reg Geeson, Chris Tattersall, – Eric Cheyney, and surely there are many more who I have overlooked. Closer to home, I must mention Graham Braybrooke, John Daly, and others who produce such interesting and well-performing trials bikes in our own 'Classic' class.

What I think elevates Alan Millyard's products, is the almost outrageous nature of what he sets out to do. A Honda Six racer? Who would have thought it possible? He did. A huge six-litre vee twin? Again, why not? It has to be acknowledged that Alan has risen the recognition of special building to new heights. I have used the word "artistry" – it would not be far wrong.

He has lifted the whole special-building scene in a similar range as those from the early crude representations in cave painting – to all the flamboyance, colour – and popularity of a Walt Disney film. Where will his imagination lead him next? – we all await....

ACU Eastern GH MC's Solo Enduro R4

Foxborough 7th May - Report & photos by Paula Day

The soft ground over grass gave a varied and interesting course over farmland and through several wooded sections with an optional bog which many choose to avoid. To make the event more challenging: ever decreasing allotted times were given to the 4,5 or 6 sessions the six different classes rode with little time for rest or refuelling for any riders not pushing for the fastest time every lap out on the course. This multi lap timecard event tested the maths skills of even the most experienced competitors as fractions of a lap were given in penalties for coming in late. Competitors admitted how tight the timing proved to be and looked visibly spent as they entered the pits for the final time following the chequered flag.

After 4 rounds positions for the Solo Championship are 1st Ben Clarke Braintree 66 points, 2nd Luke Parker Norwich 57 points, 3rd Jamie Roper Sudbury 35 points also 3rd Will Hughes Braintree 35 points and 5th Jake Roper 30 points.

Experts 1st James Yearley Braintree 62 points, 2nd Jack Edwards Diss 43 points and 3rd Joe Henthorn Sudbury 39 points.

Expert Vets 1st Julian Harvey Ipswich 57 points, 2nd Paul Spurgeon 55 points and 3rd Phil Roper 50 points.

Clubman 1st Billy Sargeant 43 points, joint 2nd Charlie Aldridge Sudbury, Lee Clifford Diss and Frazer Lawrence Sudbury all on 28 points.

Clubman Vets 1st Dan Rose Woodbridge 77 points, 2nd Keith Maude Sudbury 55 points and 3rd Jason Carsboults Sudbury 38 points.

Clubman Super Vets joint 1st Jez Moss and John Hilton both Sudbury 60 points and 3rd Murray Shotter Out of Centre 42 points.

With Round 5 of the GH Motorcycles Eastern Centre Solo Enduro Championship taking place on 11th June at Home Farm, Hadham one of only two events in the eastern Centre championship held in Hertfordshire this event is well known for its 6 mile course length and infamous bog.

Sudbury MCC/GH Motorcycles / GB Finch Eastern Centre Youth Solo Enduro Series Round 2

Foxborough 7th May - Report & photos by Paula Day

Sudbury MCC welcomed some new faces amongst the riders aged 12-16 competing in the 2nd round of the GH Motorcycles & GB Finch youth series at Foxborough near Halstead recently. With the largest field so far in this second of the five round series, the 2 hotly contended classes ran concurrently for the hour long race over open grassland and twisty tight wooded sections. The course was almost twice the length of the first round and held no issues for the field who benefited from the drying ground in light wind and sunny conditions. The early lead by Eddie Belton from the first corner left Jake Last chasing him for the full race length eventually winning a class each with a lap difference mirroring the results from the first leg.

With Round 3 of the GH Motorcycles/ GB Finch youth series taking place on 11th June at Home Farm, Hadham known for its sprawling course over farmland and testing woodland the venue is one of only two Hertfordshire events in the Eastern Centre region. Sudbury MCC is looking forward to welcoming many more interested youth riders to the challenging sport of Enduro.
